

2ND/4TH BATTALION, THE ROYAL AUSTRALIAN REGIMENT*A BRIEF HISTORY

With the reorganisation of the Army during 1973 due to the cessation of National Service, 2 RAR and 4 RAR were linked on 15 Aug 73 to form the 2nd/4th Battalion, The Royal Australian Regiment (2/4 RAR).

The new Battalion was charged with the task of preserving the traditions, associations and museums of the two Battalions from which it was formed.

Between 1977 and 1979 the Battalion concentrated on conventional warfare including night and mechanised operations. In 1980 the unit was reorganised on light scales and trained as part of the Operational Deployment Force (ODF) in close country and conventional warfare operations.

The Battalion was placed on operational readiness, though not deployed, in 1987 and 1990. On each occasion the Battalion was prepared to evacuate Australian citizens from Pacific regional countries experiencing civil disturbance.

From 1990 to 1993 many individual soldiers from the Battalion served with the United Nations in Cambodia. In 1993, 54 soldiers from the Battalion were detached to 1 RAR for operational service in Somalia as part of Operation Solace.

In May 1993, 2/4 RAR was tasked to provide a Rifle Platoon for Operation Gemini in Cambodia. 12 Platoon Delta Company, deployed to Cambodia tasked with providing local security for Australian Army Aviation Assets.

In August 1994, 114 members of the Battalion deployed to Rwanda as part of the Australian Medical Support Force. The United Nation mission, UNAMIR II, was named Operation Tamar. The nucleus of the 2/4 RAR contingent was from A Company, tasked to provide security for the Australian Medical Support Force. Other 2/4 RAR personnel were employed in the Contingent Headquarters, as medical assistants and in logistical support functions.

The 1994 Defence White Paper directed the raising of an additional Infantry battalion to redress a perceived shortfall in the Army's capability to conduct land operations in accordance with strategic guidance. This additional battalion was formed on 1 February 1995 (the birthday of 4 RAR) by unlinking 2/4 RAR to reform 2 RAR and 4 RAR. The existing 2/4 RAR, complete, was retitled 2 RAR while 4 RAR will be formed incrementally over the period to 1998.
